

A group of children in a school courtyard are participating in a traditional Chinese dragon dance. They are wearing yellow vests with a logo and are holding long red poles that support large, colorful dragon puppets. The dragons are primarily yellow and red, with some blue and green accents. The children are walking on a colorful checkered mat. In the background, there is a two-story building with a green railing and a playground area.[illegible][illegible]